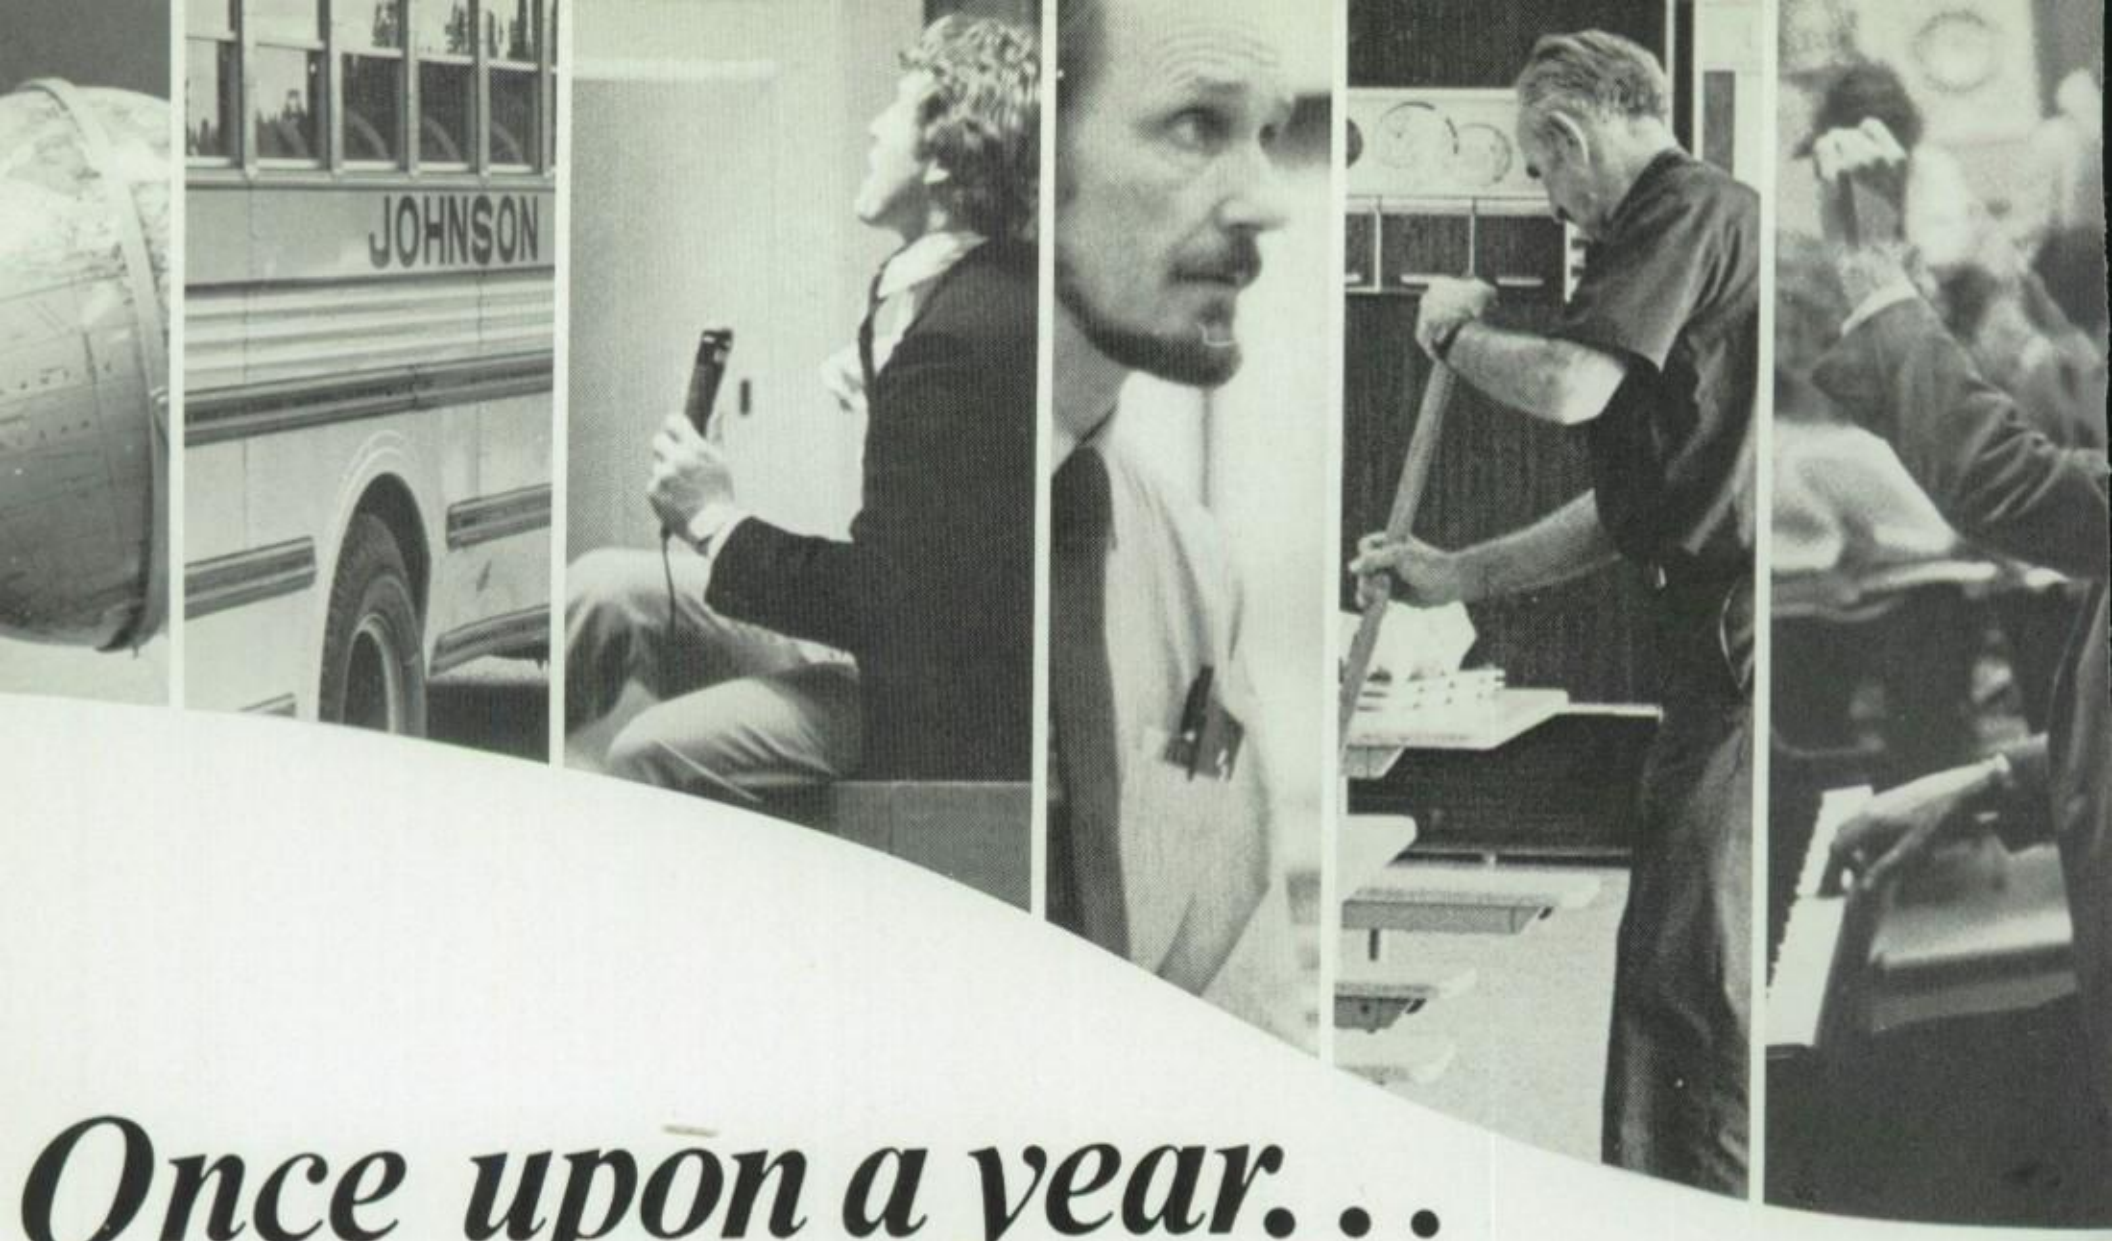
Nineteen Eighty-five

The Yearbook Of Menomonee Falls High School

Menomonee Falls, Wisconsin 53051

Volume One



Once upon a year...

Once upon a year.....

Two schools came together. This is the story of their trials and tribulations, successes and failures, and new experiences.

In the following chapters, the Chieftain staff records the nineteen eighty-five year; beginning with the year before-a time when the horrible monster Declining Enrollment threatened the individual schools. Action had to be taken. Protection was needed against Illiteracy, a flourescent, chartreuse, six-headed Cyclops for she had a peculiar way of infesting students' brains. This first chapter looks at the schools in their moment of transition.

EAST

East girls track team had an outstanding season. Their team captains were Lisa Brewer and Ann Fleisner. Five of their girls were conference champs — Becky Kanitz in the long jump (indoor and outdoor) and Renee Holtz, Jenny Reckers, Ann Fleisner and Lisa Brewer in 3200 meter relay. Becky Kanitz was named the most valuable player. Most outstanding in a field event was Cindy Schaefer and most outstanding runner was Lisa Brewer placing 3rd in outdoor conference and 4th in indoor conference. The team took 2nd in J.V. conference and 1st in Freshman conference. The large number of girls that participated contributed greatly to their fantastic year.

NORTH

North track team was lead by captains Michele Flasch, Julie Curran and Chris Rietz. The team's most valuable player was Michele Flasch. Most improved runner was Laurie Huber who took 7th in conference. Although they did not place well in conference the team put forth a lot of effort.

North

Over all, North's golf team placed 6th in conference. They placed 4th in the final eighteen-hole all-conference meet with 432 pts. In other meets throughout the season they also placed well. Major achievements were their 1st place at the West Bend Invitational where they finished with 181 pts. in 9 holes. They tied for 2nd in regionals and went on to sectionals. The team also brought home a 3rd place from the Hartford Invitational.

The 1984 Boy's Tennis season was very rainy, which cancelled a number of conference meets. In spite of this, the team finished in seventh place in the Braveland Conference; however, it should be noted that five of the teams that ranked ahead of us were in the top ten at state. Primarily seniors, the team showed a great deal of improvement as the season went on, in fact, often practicing at six A.M. As is apparent, the tennis team had a very dedicated season and should do well in future years.

Enjoy Those Matches

The 1984 Falls North Boys Tennis Team was one of mixed success. Success that year can best be described in terms of growth and improvement. All team members played many various positions in singles and doubles. This valuable playing time in the ever-tough Braveland Conference gave the team a solid background for future success. "These guys really battled this year. Although often out-manned, they represented themselves and their school well. I wish them the best in 1985."-Mr. Hartzell, Varsity Coach 1984.

The Menomonee Falls East Theater Department presented their spring production, On Golden Pond, in April 1984. The cast was as follows: Norman-Dave Wodushek, Ethel-Kris Herwig, Chelsea-Mary Langenhahn/ Meg Patrick, Bill Ray Sr.-Tony Mattia, and Billy Ray Jr.-Alan Hart. The plot centers around Norman Thayer, a retired professor who is becoming senile, and their grandson who comes to spend the summer. Overall, the play was one of the best the Theater Department has presented.

Excited Audiences

To promote the merger, the Menomonee Falls East and North Music Departments combined the choirs and orchestras for a spring concert. Also performing in the spring, the Menomonee Falls East bands held separate concerts. The musical groups were directed by Ray Janusiak (orchestra), Bruce Heise (choir), Arthur Ulichny (percussion and ensemble), and William Schaefgen (concert band). Both concerts were a success, and the money raised through ticket sales was used by the groups for end-of-the-year activities. It was a fitting end of the last year of separate high schools.

North High School held its Junior Prom in May 1984. The theme-"A Match Made in Heaven"-reflected the romanticism of the dance. King Steve Sugrue and Queen Lisa Schulze added an elegant touch to the event-their coronation at the dance. Special E, a local band, performed for Junior Prom. The dance concluded with the traditional Grand March, where the Prom Court and King and Queen were organized into a procession. Overall, the event marked the last year of North High School.

East High School also held their Junior Prom in May 1984. The theme was "Almost Paradise", and the cafeteria was made to resemble a "tropical paradise". The event was catered by Rudolf, a local caterer, and a meal was served to those attending. Along with a meal, the couples received favors that were designed by Sue Gellendin, a student at East High School. All in all, the dance, with music by Loose Change, was a success.

Turnabout '84 North

The concept of Turnabout originated with the beginning of "Sadie Hawkins", from the comic strip "L'il Abner". At this event, "the girl asks the guy", instead of the other way around. Both Turnabout dances, North's and East's, reflected this idea. It was the girl's responsibility to take care of tickets for the dance, dinner costs, and the boutiniere. Usually met with success, the dance has become a tradition for the spring of the school year.

Every year since 1966, a very special girl has been given the honor of being chosen "Junior Miss." She is selected on the basis of character, personality, scholarship, intelligence, extracurricular activities, talent, and general appearance.

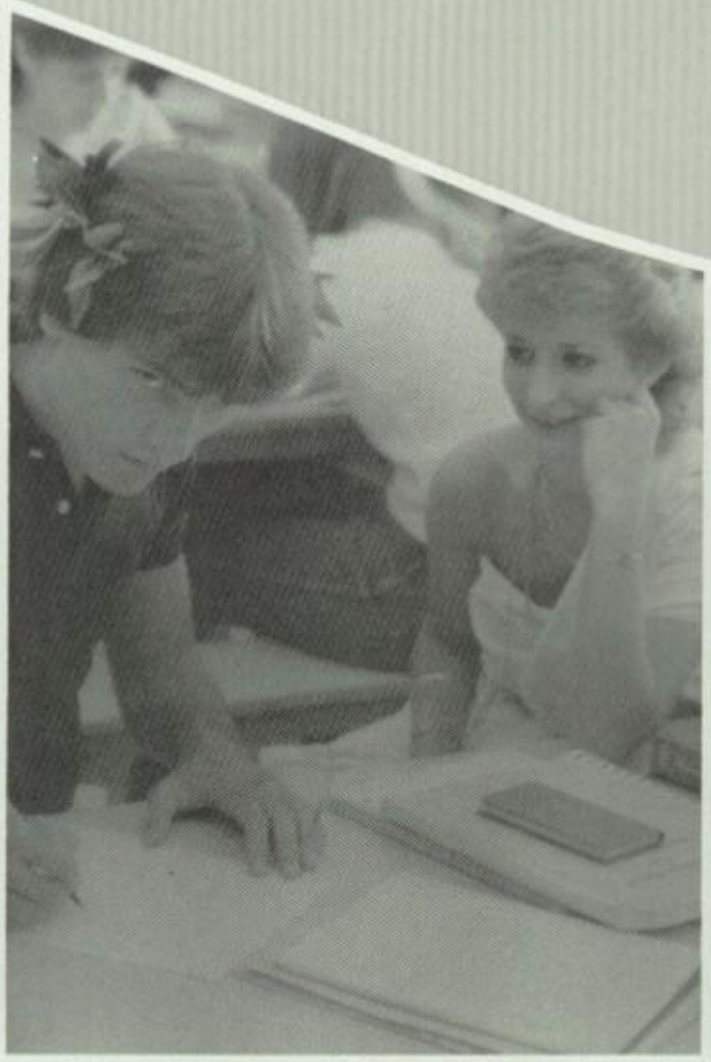
Chris Waggoner was crowned "Junior Miss" by Claudia Keidl; the runners-up were: 1st, Mary Langenhahn; 2nd, Michele Petta; and 3rd, Jacqueline Marek. Mary Wendel was chosen "Spirit of Junior Miss."

Other participants included the following Junior girls: Heidi Himmel, Cynthia Roloson, Chris Wiederhold, Laura Poetzel, Victoria Wamser, Renee Pintor, Kristin Pionke, and Dawn Benz.

The Junior Miss Pageant was sponsored by the Menomonee Falls Jaycees. Co-chairperson of this event is Mrs. Elberta Le Vine, High School Reading Teacher.

Music was provided by the Menomonee Falls Jazz Ensemble directed by Mr. Don Huenefeld. The technical crew was directed by Mr. David Schnell.

Co-hosts were Mrs. Leah Vukmir, a former Wisconsin Junior Miss, and Mr. Robb Edwards, WTMJ radio.



Life Flourished On The

The school year started and the students began their new life. It was hard at first-meeting new people and not seeing old friends-but gradually everyone adjusted. The school felt a sense of unity and triumph because Illiteracy and Declining Enrollment had been defeated for the time being. Celebrational plans were in order. Dances, games, and special days were put together to encourage the enthusiasm and spirit generated by the Spirit events. This chapter views the student life in its freshness and spontaneity.

The first Homecoming parade of Menomonee Falls High School was ld on October 4, 1984. First, the classes and various clubs built floats to present the anticipated defeat of the Brookfield East Spartans. (Incidenlly, it should be noted that Brookfield East defeated Menomonee Falls, -0.) The parade included marchers, cars, and horseback riders, all of nom participated in the march around the neighborhood. During the rade, the floats were judged on originality and appropriateness. Winng the float competition was the Freshmen class and in second place was e Integrated Studies Program (I.S.P). Overall, the parade was an excelnt way of beginning the Homecoming weekend.

"We've only just begun . . ." These words, sung by Karen Carpenter, reflect the beginning of a new school year, and the Homecoming dance. Held on October 5, 1984, the couples who attended received potpourri (similiar to a sachet) and a card with the date, theme, and couple's name. Queen Nancy Marks and King Pat Burke, who received this honor through a vote by sports players, were crowned at the Grand March. The band that performed for the dance was very good, as was apparent by the number of couples that danced. All in all, the dance could be summed up by the following quote from a couple who attended: "It was great! I hope all the dances are like this."

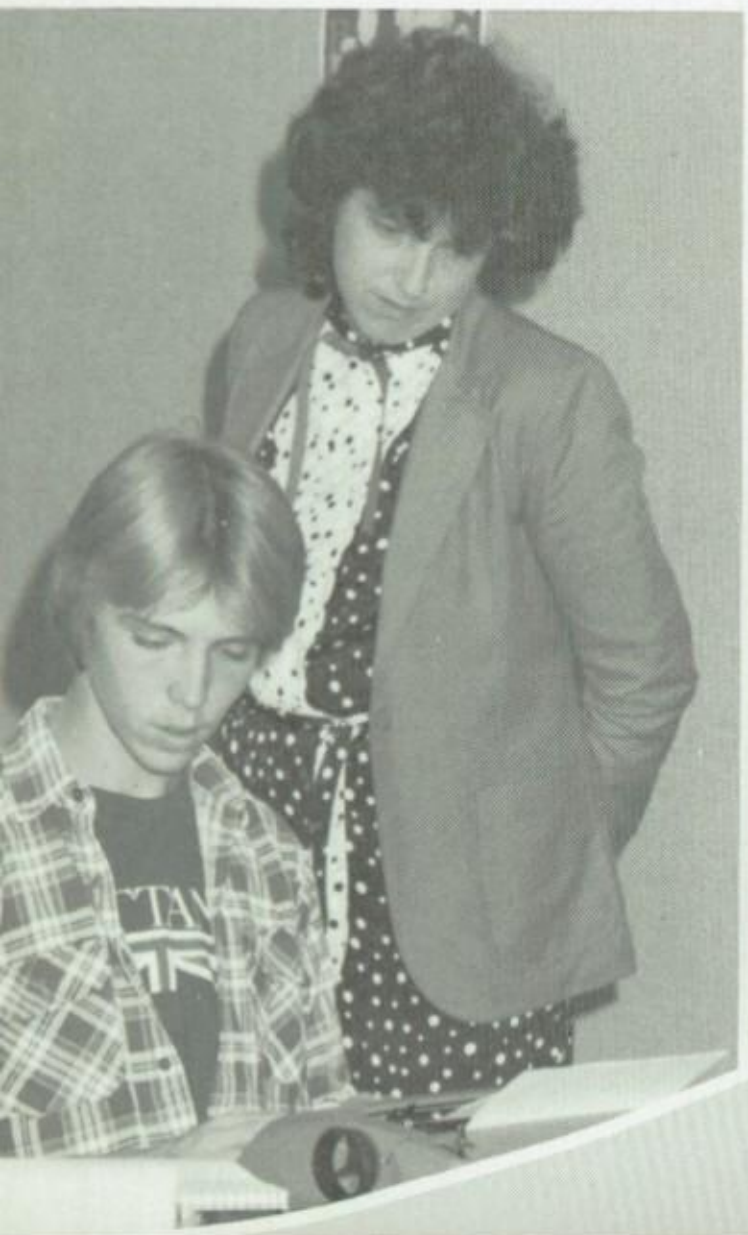
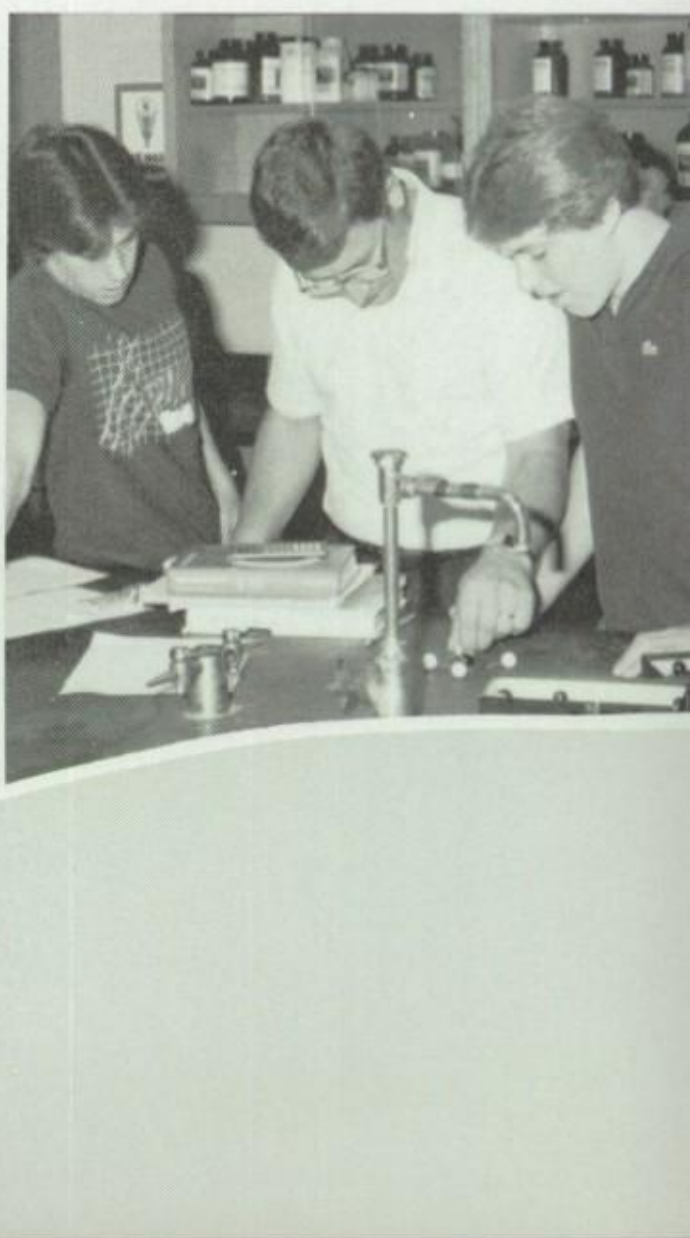
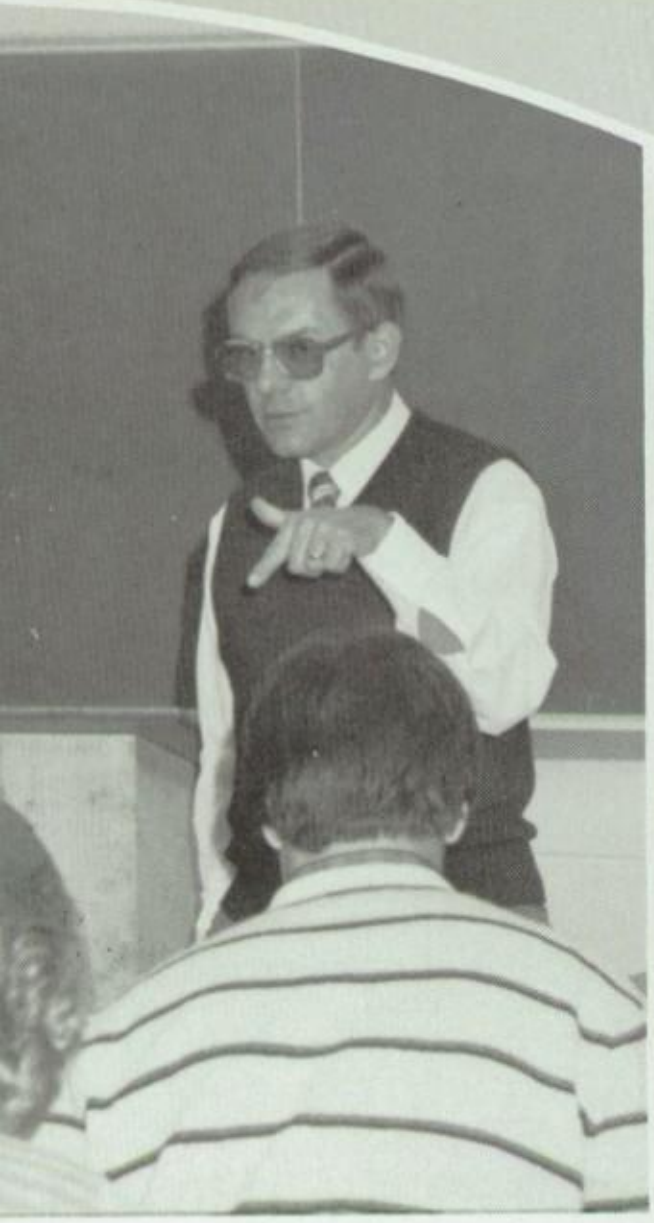
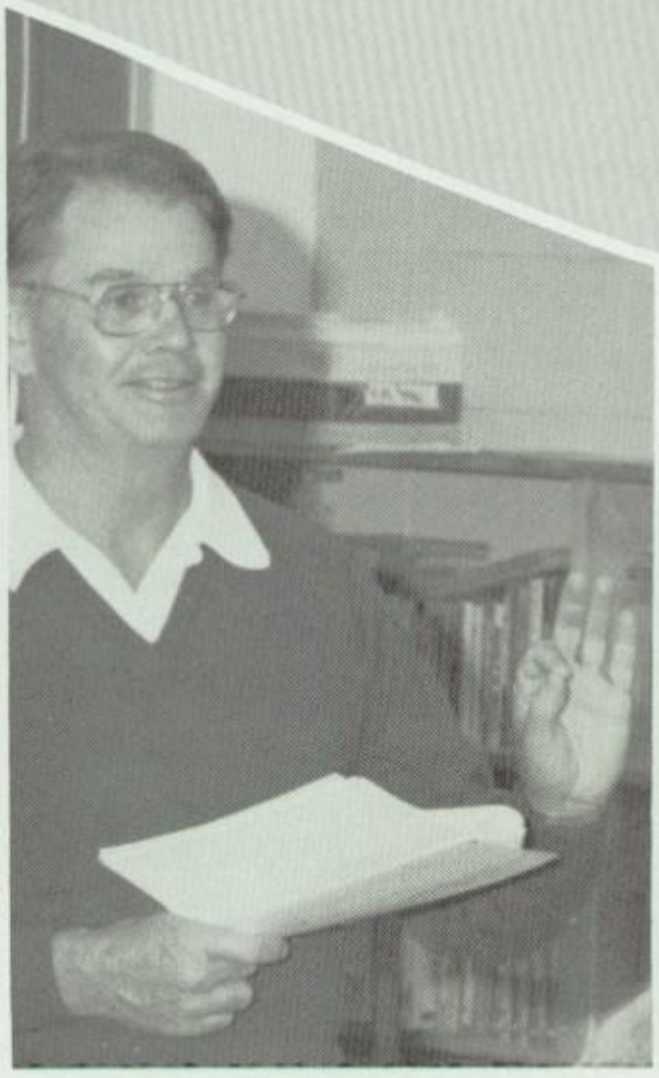
We're Proud Of Our Leaders

The faculty and administration contributed greatly to the year. The monsters and phantoms that threatened the school from time to time were skillfully stopped by the faculty and administration. Dedicated as they were to the defense and upkeep of the school, the faculty had a major charge. They were responsible for the education of students in the magical lessons of life and knowledge.









Who Instruct And Guide

Administrators, too, were responsible for the students, as they dealt with the problems and frustrations of running of a school; for example, the administrators had to keep track of 1700 students. This chapter shows the entire administration and faculty in and out of work.

Because we were a split school even after resolving to unite into one high school building, some of the faculty had to spend the year without seeing other high school level teachers. Some were obliged to travel back and forth between our high school and North. Our Freshmen shared North with Eighth graders who were in training to become the Freshmen of the "totally together" high school of the future . . . Our administrators took turns at North helping to exercise the diciplinary measures required. This procedure enabled North students to become acquainted with the high school Wizards, their leaders of the future.

We Went To The Office To See . . . .

As students wandered down the Brown Brick Road of Oz, they came upon the Emerald City-the school office. Upon entering for help, the students saw four chambers. In each, there resided a Wizard, a Scarecrow, a Tin Woodsman and a Cowardly Lion. The gatekeepers of this land, situated at the center of the city, directed and guided "seekers for solutions" throughout the year to the proper chamber. The motto of the Guidance Munchkins-"We welcome you to Munchkinland"-helped summarize the goal of these Munchkins, which was to help put students "back together again". Overall, the Emerald City was the beating heart of the Land of Oz, our school.

Special Essays

When I am thinking over my school years, I would have to say that my favorite class was English, taught by Mr. Cummings.

English is not my favorite subject, but I think the reason I liked it was because Mr. Cummings was a good teacher. The fact that I also had a lot of my friends in there gave it a good atmosphere. Even though I didn't get fantastic in the class, I learned more than I ever have in any other class. I think that having people you know really well makes it a lot easier to learn, because you don't sit bored as in other classes.

I doubt if I will ever be in a class like that again, so I am sure I will always think of that as my favorite class. Some of the funniest memories of school were from there, and the fact that I really learned something was good, too.

Mike Zodrow

My favorite class, out of the three years I've attended high school is a class I am taking this year. It's called Personal and Family Relationships. It is taught by Mrs. Wall, who I think is a really good teacher and a super person to talk with.

This class is only one semester but it covers a lot of subject matter. I think this is a really important class because we learn things that we use now and that will be helpful to us for the rest of our lives. We see movies and hear guest speakers on topics we are discussing. We don't get that much homework because it is usually about a topic that interests me and I want to learn more about it. In this class we learn about ourselves, our relationships with the opposite sex and same sex, our family, our bodies, and a lot of other things that we can really use in our lives.

Another reason I like the class so much is that I like Mrs. Wall. She is really nice and I like to listen to her talk. She is very interesting when she teaches us things and she doesn't talk down to us. I think she really likes teaching us. She is also very fair about homework and grades and I know what to expect if I don't complete an assignment or if I come to class late.

But the main reason I like this class as much as I do because it teaches me things I should know that I can use after high school.

When asked to write a composition on my favorite subject in school, lunch immediately leaped to mind. I was informed, however, that I must make a choice among academic subjects only. Bearing this in mind, I guess I'll have to say biology. Why biology? It's fun! No, I didn't get an "A" for saying that, it really is. I thought it got off to kind of a slow start, but for the next nine weeks we are doing nothing but labs. Labs are fun because they give people the opportunity to think. Thinking, or the lack of thinking, on the student's part can lead to a well planned, successful experiment, or a hopelessly mixed-up shambles (which can often be even more fun).

Also Mr. Wielgosz is a fun teacher. If a student gives an incorrect answer, Mr. Wielgosz won't respond with "That's not exactly what we're looking for." He'll laugh, and then come right out and say something like "C'mon, don't be stupid, you should know this stuff!" You might think that some people would be offended by this, but Mr. Wielgosz pulls it off in just such a way that you think it's funny, but yet makes you want to learn the right answer. Well, that's about it. That's why I like biology. Now, Mr. Wielgosz, about that "A"

Art is my favorite class because it is both educational and fun. This year we are learning the principles of design so our projects will turn out better. It is such a great feeling to express yourself in an idea, transfer it with skill and craftsmanship into a piece of art, and then have someone compliment it because they think it is wonderful. When this happens you feel really good because they are not just praising your ability, but the feelings you put in your work. That is one of the nicest compliments anyone can give.

Dawn Mueller

My favorite class is easily, band. Band is a good place to let out some of your innermost emotions, through the instrument you play. When the time comes, you can play loudly and furiously, which unleashes some of your frustrations. However, you can play softly and sweetly, showing yourself how wonderfully you play.

Band is also an excellent place to widen the cavities of your mind because you are exposed to different types of music. It is amazing how much I have learned about myself by just listening and playing classical, symphonic, marching and jazz music. It seems to have made me more aware of myself.

Some of my reasons for really appreciating band may not "hit home" but you must realize that once you learn an instrument, it's a skill you will always have.

John Simons

Shorthand is a fascinating class. It makes you wonder how a bunch of squiggles can mean anything useful. Everyone enters the class with a desire to learn something. They come enthusiastically and with a smile.

Once you get started, you learn how lines and circles relate to sounds, not letters, a part of your brain signals and sends a message stating, "Wow, I'm going to have to work to get anywhere with this class."

You soon realize how practice makes perfect. Its a whole new language.

Patty Persik

Of all my classes, I think Spanish is best. I think it is great to be learning a new language from another country.

Learning another language helps more people to communicate. In most other countries, the people know another language, such as English. However, most Americans do not find another language necessary. When someone does learn another language, it seems like we too, are making an effort to communicate better.

Spanish class is different from my other classes which makes it more interesting. Spanish also has a variety of activities, including grammar. Overall, Spanish offers the most interesting subject matter for me.

Barb Tankersley

I feel that a good high school class is Advanced Cabinet-making, a woodworking class that involves making items such as beds, gun cabinets, china cabinets, desks, kitchen cabinets, and waterbeds. The projects are made at fairly cheap prices, but yet they are made of high quality construction. For example, last year I made a large desk for 150.00 dollars. This desk would sell for around $600.00 at fine desk furniture stores. My desk was made from solid oak, not particle-board covered with paper, like at a discount store.

Advanced Cabinetmaking is a great help for any kind of engineering occupation in that it gives the student an opportunity to set up machines like the table saw, band saw, surfacer, and other machines that help build a cabinet. I also learned the different types of wood joints needed to build a cabinet.

This is a course that will greatly help a student in learning and also in getting a job in the future. Cabinet makers get paid quite a bit in this trade. Woodworking would be a good career to pursue in that the training is fairly easy and the pay is good.

Most people don't like Algebra, but I do. I especially liked my Algebra II class during my freshman year. I made many new friends in that class, and most were juniors. Through the year, I also became good friends with the teacher.

When I came to high school, I was really nervous. I was especially nervous about Algebra II because I knew the class would be mostly juniors. Being a freshman in the class, however, meant everyone on my side of the room talked to me. Some students became sarcastic when I got better grades, but they were still my friends.

My teacher and I became friends. In fact, I had her the following year in geometry. Because of my good grades, she asked me to stay after school and help others with homework. Even in class, others would ask me for help if they were stuck on a problem.

I think my success in that class was due to my having Algebra I the previous year, and my status of being a freshman. This class helped me make friends and taught me how to help others. Being friends with the teacher also made it a lot easier for me. Overall, you can see why Algebra II was my favorite class.

Dan Crow

During my three years in high school, my best class was Driver's Ed. with Mr. Gradinjan. Driver's Ed. was my favorite class because it was interesting and fun. In my composition I'm going to tell you why.

Driver's Education was very interesting. I think this was because people want to learn how to drive so they pay more attention to the class. You also find out things you've never heard before, for example, how to do a three point turn, to parallel parking and to park on a hill. Driver's Education was interesting for these reasons.

Driver's Education was fun because of Mr. Gradinjan. When he called on students he would always say, "In your infinite power of knowledge and wisdom, could you tell the class your answer," and, if the student didn't know, Mr. Gradinjan would laugh it off. Because this class was so fun he would also tell the class humorous stories.

In my view, Driver's Education was the best class I ever took in my three years of high school. It was a learning experience.

Mike Maki

As I think back over the years of my high school life, I can only think of one major class that I really enjoyed and learned something in.

My high school life has been very fun. I thought it would be a real "bummer", but as I think back, there is only one class that I admired- U.S. History I-II. Although I'm taking it this year, it really seems that I am learning something. I thought it was going to be boring and hard. However, it really isn't these things. It's easy!

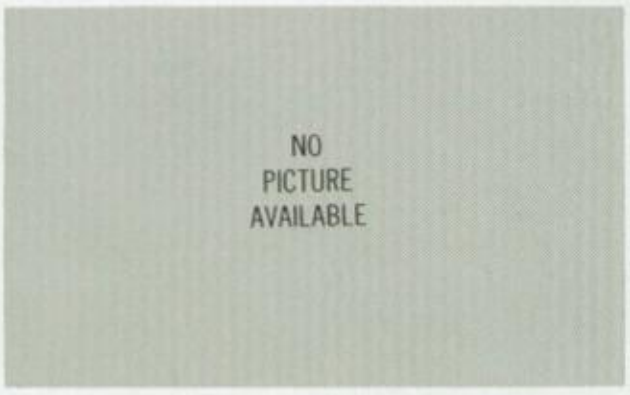
The teacher, I think, is the best teacher to have for U.S. History I-II. He's funny, and he really knows his stuff. He gets right down to the point, but expresses it in a funny way. The teacher I'm talking about is Mr. Tyson. Everyone says he's a so and so or a this and that, but I think he's pretty cool. He's none of the things that people say he is.



I think that U.S. History I-II is a very good class. I have been in many fun and educational classes before, but nothing like this one. You have a sense that you are in the places of all the historical men. But I think Mr. Tyson is a very good teacher.

Brian Schulz

During high school, I had many favorite classes. The one that sticks out in my mind is my Sophomore English class. Mr. Cummings was the teacher. I remember on the first day he explained all the guidlines and everything he expected from his students. Many friends warned me that he was tough. The way he was talking, with such authorit I started to get scared.

As the year progressed, I learned not to be afraid of this teacher, but actually to like him. My friends were right, he was tough. He demanded excellent quality of work, and I tried my best. Many times I received low grades on compositions, but that made me work harder next time. I really enjoyed his classes as the year came to a close, I found myself looking forward to his classes. Especially during the speech unit.

I enjoyed this the best. I got all A's on my speeches, except for one. Nearly the whole class failed that speech because we weren't prepared. Although he did warn us of the fact, that if we were not ready we would get an automatic F. We were very mad at him and blamed him for our mistakes.

I think I learned the most in his class than any other class. He taught us to behave and follow directions, which are very important in life. I will always remember him and thank him for how he taught us so much.

I think that Mr. Fullerton has helped a lot of the kids when they really needed to talk. He gets kind of pushy at times but usually it is for the best ... Mrs. Leslie is nice and easy to talk to, and I think it is good when she talks to your teachers to help you ... the groups I think are great because no matter what, someone always needs someone to talk to and someone to trust and thats what we have in our group and I like when everyone tries to help the other person and it makes you feel better knowing just that someone cares ... the study time helps me pretty much because I only have one study hall every other day so it helps me with some of my other classes ... the evaluations are good because they help the kids know where they need more work and then they can raise their grades ... the days out help to break up the week a little and then it's not such a drag going to school day after day .. some parent may want their kid to solve their problems at home but that is not always possible, so I think that the parents would be glad to know that there is a place in school that wants to help their kids ... In our group we confront and level with people and we try to face reality and I think that is good because we are going to need to be able to do that throughout our whole lifetime. .. I am glad I am going to be in ISP next semester and I hope our group will be just as good and honest with each other as first semester ... I think that there could be classes in all schools because I think that it helps the kids a lot. Too bad that ever-one in this school couldn't have this class because I bet everyone in this school would get along better.

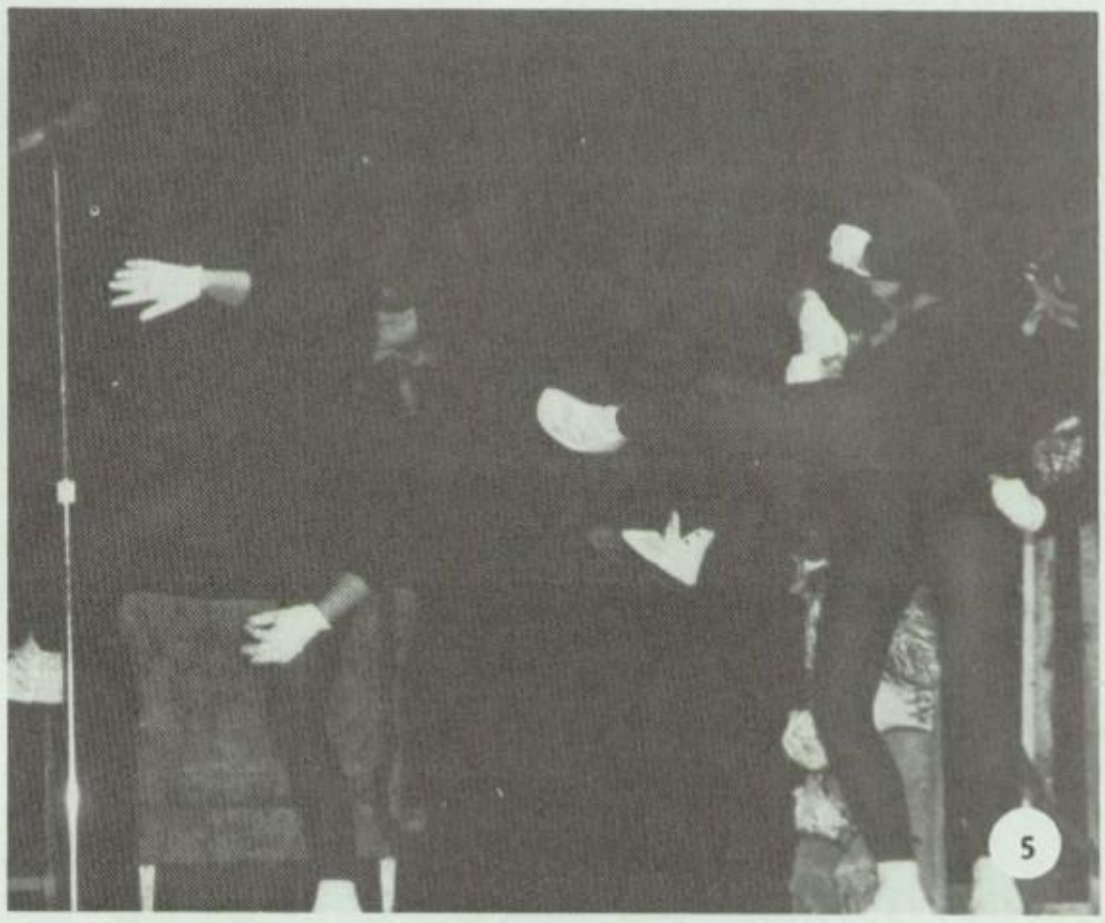
There's No Business

"The start of something big." Band Revue '84 was just that. The combination of talent from both schools provided a full evening of entertainment for all. Presented in December, the skits had a seasonal touch. Most notable was a spoof of ""Twas the Night Before Christmas."" Band Revue had its serious moments. However, George Gershwin's "Rhapsody In Blue" was performed by Shelly Beschta and Annette Willian-pianists-and the band. The variety show was directed by Donald Huenfeld and Arthur Ulichny, choreography by Bonnie Murphy, and vocal instruction was provided by Bruce Heise. Overall, Band Revue-although it suffered from lower attendance-was a learning experience for all involved.

1) Dawn Benz and others perform "In a Japanese Garden." 2) Peter Anderson and Brett Farrell comfort Ricky Rundell on "The Night Before Christmas." 3) Kathy Brill, Brett Farrell, and Jason Heise play with their "gifts" from Santa.

Like Show Business!



4) Band members pose as presents under the Christmas tree. 5) Two cats pursue "Four Blind Mice." 6) Concentrating on their music, the band plays "If You Believe."

The Menomonee Falls High School Theater Department presented the fall play Mary, Mary by Jean Kerr in November 1984. The plot concerns Bob McKellaway's conflicts with fiancé; Tiffany and ex-wife Mary. The merger of the two schools brought fresh new talent together for the production. The cast was as follows: Bruce Linser-Bob McKellaway; Mary Langenhahn-Tiffany Richards; Kris Bretl-Mary McKellaway; Keith Chadwick-Dirk Winston; and Marc Lynch-Oscar. Applause resounded again as the audience voiced their pleasure over this simple play.

1) Bob tells Mary he made a mistake in divorcing her. 2) Apologizing, Bob tells Mary she's not a Communist. 3) Tiffany ard Dirk argue with Mary. 4) Dirk listens to Mary as she tells him about her life. 5) Oscar tells Bob not to worry.

They Built Bridges

"From a city with 12,000 people to a city with 27,000 nd living near a city like Milwaukee it is a different xperience, both cultural and society. The biggest exper- ence during my stay here in Menomonee Falls is prob- bly the school experience and by meeting new people in he school, many of them by the different sports I did. Since I already graduated in Greenland, the classes I took here were mostly new classes. Classes like US History, Computer Math, Accounting and gym in school was new or me. Many things are so different from my country. I hink the biggest change was the language and the people. The society was also a big change. All I want to say is it vas nice to be here and I will remember my stay here. Ajunnginniarisi.

Steen Andersen

It's very hard to express the emotion of being here with vords. When I came here, I thought two months would be oo much time to stay here. I really thought it would be xtremely boring. Now, I don't want to go back home. And unfortunately I have just 15 days left. I know a lot of people, made friends and it's very important for me. I'm earning things here that will help me all my life. This is he first time I have traveled alone. I never had real esponsibilities before, like taking care of my own money r taking care of myself like I'm doing here.

This trip is my parents 15 birthday gift for me. I'm sure hey couldn't have given me any other present better han that. I want to thank them a lot. I want to thank you or all too. I will never forget days at Menomonee Falls.

Carla Berthe

Well, I'm going to say or at least to explain how my experience has been in this half year gone. When I came here I could not say anything in English. This was my first problem. The culture difference impacted me so much, more than when I was in Spain and I started to hate every single American thing. "My body was here but my mind was in Spain".

I started to think in my country, in my city with 860,000 people where the people live in the streets, where the houses are together and where the relation between the people is different . . .

Later I tried to find why America was America. I start- ed to think how many things this country has how many things you can get here, things very different to my coun- try. And then I realized this was just different. I threw away the idea the wrong idea of the American dream; nice cars nice restaurants, big houses- and I could see that here, here in the United States there is poverty too, here there are social problems, . . .

My life in high school was so hard in the beginning. I was not quite strong to hear a few nationalist feelings like "America's the best-go back to Spain!!"

Yes, it was difficult but I kept going and in fact I could see people with higher expectations.

Persons who care what Europe is, how is the life there, and what is going on in another side of the world, and then I was happy to see how I talked with them and I could say my feelings even if they were still laughing at my clothes; my short pants or my scarves because I was different to them and they were different to me. But with that I didn't stop to speak with American people because they were different to me or because they dressed differ- ent to me but later I didn't care any more because we are ALL PEOPLE, we are PERSONS. Because I am a person before I am Spanish. And sometimes it is very sad to think that culture problems and differences can break two countries, that these things can separate people.

And I found people, nice people who now and forever will be my American friends, my American families, but before being American people they are my PEOPLE.

Lourdes Marti Safon (Valencia)

My wonderful trip to Los Angeles, California in 1983 helped me decide to spend a year of my life in the United States. So, after graduating from high school and being accepted to the Athens Law school, I was on my way.

It is true that when I was told I was going to go to Wisconsin, I had to look for it on the map and it took me quite a while since I had no idea where it was. I wasn't very thrilled, since I hoped I would be sent to New York or Florida, California or Texas. I knew the climate was going to be painfully cold for me. No cowboys, no sky- scrapers! Menomonee Falls, a Midwest village, didn't sound very exciting.

Yet, I did come, and survived the cold and found things to do and many others to appreciate. It is true that Meno- monee Falls isn't the most exciting of places. But the main thing that a foreign exchange student has to keep in mind in order to have a good once in a lifetime exper- ience, is to avoid making comparisons with what he had back home, or wished he was experiencing here. Thinking positively is the only way to do it. I tried it and in most cases it did work.

Meeting people, learning the language, living with a family and being one of its members, going places, ana- lyzing situations, trying to fit in another - and rather different - culture, learning to cope with problems by yourself, all these make you a more independent and mature person.

I thank all of you who made me feel welcome in your school. I'm sure I'll never forget neither you, or the good times we had together.

Miranda Karalis
Athens, Greece.

The yearbook staff of 1985 did not get a credit of any kind, as have staffs of past years, or any "official" benefit from working on this book. It would have been great for all of the staff to be able to work together during the seventh hour - working separately made it seem as though nothing was happening sometimes. The staff finished the book with just a few people (like three!). Special appreciation to Nicole Hauk who started late and worked heroically, and to Tami Loepfe and Holly Hill who were emergency typists.

To share a few problems: Did you ever try to take a decent picture of someone - and that person turns away? "I saw him take a picture of me I know he did, I know I'll be in the yearbook . . ."-"Why wasn't my picture in the yearbook?" HA! . . . Did you ever try to get a teacher to do "something for tomorrow"? . . . Did you ever try to make all of the Senior pictures look alike, but find that they had their pictures taken by many different photographers-each with their own style . . . Did you ever plan a year's schedule of getting things done and find it impossible because of unexpected changes in other peoples plans? Did you ever try to please 1500 people? We knew that wouldn't work but if we pleased you we are happy!

Because of some loose ends resulting from moving two schools together, some Spring '84 sports pictures were lost in the confusion. We're sorry, but we were not able to recover any useable negatives or prints of Boys' Baseball and Girls' Soccer.

And why the theme? - It's like this; Memories of a school year are really like a fairy tale that begins "Once upon a year . . ." You remember all those outrageous things that you did that nobody would believe if you told them! So we did it and we're glad.

The Smoke Signals Staff, although talented, suffered from a lack of volunteers. Consequently, their publishing efforts varied from a neat four page beginning to a single sheet of news. Not because there wasn't news . . . (Just listen to announcements!), but because there wasn't enough writing power to produce the "inches" needed to cover well the immense activity of a school of our size. But like the coaches say . . "We anticipate a better year next year when all those bright Freshmen come in . . .".

BLOOD DONORS were a special group of students. They were people who gave of themselves in a different way. For a few minutes of their time spent on a couch with a nice lady from the Blood Center, they earned the thanks of unknown people who needed their blood. From the first prick of the needle to the relaxing period at the end, donors knew that they were doing the right thing.

Notes on Season:

The season of 1984 was a very successful year. The Girls Cross Country team took first place in the Knights Invite and the Charger Invite. They took second place in Highlander Invite and the Wis. Luthern Invite. The girls also did a great job and took third in conference. Their highlight of the season was Sectional Champs. They took 13th in the State meet. The teams most valuable runner was Laura Rouse. Most improved was Renae Holtz and the Senior leadership award was received by Lisa Brewer. The captains that led this group of very good runners were Lisa Brewer and Kara Downs.

The Tribe, the school name for the pom pon squad, performed excellently this year. Their success began at Camp last summer. The Tribe took 1st in their circle effect, 1st in originality, 1st on their skills, 1st on nightly ratings, 1st on banner, and obviously 1st overall. The judges at Camp named Michelle Petta Miss Badgerette at Camp. The Tribe also placed 3rd at State Fair. At the Midwest Competition, they again took first in originality, and 2nd in Senior kick line. They finished as 2nd runner-up to the Grand Champs. At the clinic in Germantown, they took 3rd in originality and 1st in "Supersteps." WOW!

In Synch With Dolphinettes

DOLPHINETTES
SYNCHRONIZED SWIM TEAM
MENOMONEE FALLS, WIS.

Synchronized swimming has grown into a complex combination of "rhythmic swimming and gymnastics performed in the water, all set to music." The 1984-85 Dolphinettes have also grown. This year they had 45 girls ranging from 7th through 12th grade. The team brought home numerous ribbons and medals from meets throughout the year. And after a month of hard work and daily practice they also put on their annual show March 27-30, entitled "Video Magic".

9-12 Grade Members — Row 1: Karen Wegner, Nicole Hauk, Dawn Benz, Any Mikec. Row 2: Dawn Schoenke, Kim Orlikowski, Roxanne Dulski, Julie West, Chris Andreshak, Christine Cass, Michelle Pahl, Stacy Dehne, Sandy Wanke. Row 3: Mary Hauk, Jennie Collins, Terri Feldbrugge, Michelle Heinrichs, Amy Strigel, Jacque Prince, Mindy Wittig.

3. Captains, (clockwise) Amy Mikec, Dawn Benz, Karen Wegner, and Nicole Hauk, making it look effortless. 4. A break from all the hard work. 5. Seniors, Nicole Hauk and Dawn Benz, practicing part of their duet. 6. One of the infinite number of arm positions that can be used in routines.

Success filled the 1985 volleyball teams' season. The merger of the two schools brought together the most talented people and they had a great season. To start the season off, they won the Waukesha South Invitational. They also beat West Bend East (last years State Champs) in Sectional Finals which qualified them for the State Tournament in Oshkosh. The team took 3rd at State. The highlight of their season was becoming the Braveland Conference Champions.

Sweet and sour memories of Homecoming and posing for a dumb Senior picture and the warm afternoons playing Tennis and Soccer and Football . . . (and getting adjusted to homework) . . .

REMEMBER THE WINTER?

Remember the cold and snow that piled great drifts around the building until we were sure we wouldn't get in- but they didn't call off school . . . wearing wet shoes most of the day . . . stepping out to have a cigarette in 15 degree below zero weather and frrreezing . . .

REMEMBERING THE SPRING?

When teachers promises came true and we began to worry if we would graduate with our class or if our college would accept us or . . if romance would ever again happen . . . and, running through the halls and running outside . . . always runnint until

SUMMER . . . AND NO MORE SCHOOL (til FALL)

In Memorium

We Remember Classmates Tom Klein And Pat Knodl.

In a dream I walked with God through the deep places of creation; past walls that receeded and gates that opened, through hall after hall of silence, darkness and refreshment — the dwelling place of souls acquainted with light and warmth — until, around me, was an infinity into which we all flowed together and lived anew, like the rings made by raindrops falling upon wide expanses of calm dark waters.

- Dag Hammarskjold, "Markings"

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The recording of the story of this year of joining two schools would not be complete without the co-operation of the entire student body, the staff of great teachers, the administration (who made the task a bit more challenging than usual) and of course, the yearbook staff.

First, the students must be commended for subscribing to the first volume of the Chieftain, 75% strong! Secondly they should be recognized for writing the impromptu essays on "My Favorite Class". Surprising things were discovered. Many students actually like school! In fact, there are students who like U.S. History I-II. Would you believe that there are students who like their English teachers, along with their other teachers, enough to call them friends? Thank you all! We know that you'll read the essays many times as you look back at this year.

Next, the faculty were a great help in taking yearbook subscriptions, identifying faces in group photos, and in presenting a smiling face to the photographers who interrupted the solemn schedule of their class room with "pictures again".

The administration was quite helpful in deciding to be gracious about including the Freshmen in the history of this year. The yearbook staff tried to make those 382 Freshmen fit into the yearbook, although they did not fit into the high school building.

Finally, the yearbook staff have only themselves to thank for headaches acquired through eyestrain and continuous worry inspired by horrible and impending deadlines. The staff-Janene Klein, Becky Youngbauer, Dawn Wellinger, Nicole Hauk and Shari Adameak-were a small, above average group of writers, layout designers, editors and typists.

We also salute Mr. Ed Schlumpf, Freshman class advisor and Chieftain liason staff at North for his devoted assistance, Mr. Ken Wittemore, Josten's Yearbook Company's agent and helper whose encouragement was appreciated, and last of all, Mr. Earl Kittleson our "fearless" advisor who was responsible for coordinating the work and, of course, for the mistakes that may or may not be in the record of this "fairy tale" of a year.

THANKS!

We end this book here with a simple word of encouragement: FORWARD, INDIANS!
